■ TEAM SPOTLIGHT: HENRY'S LAW SOFTBALL CLUB

Editorial and photos submitted by Danial Dew

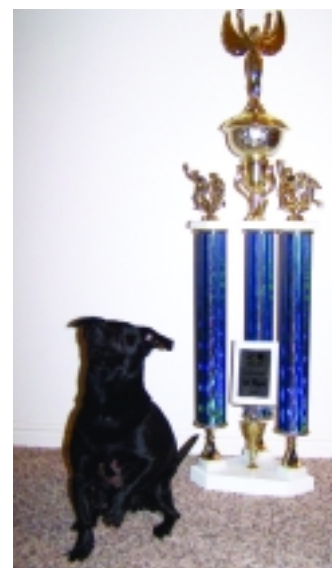

Henry's Law Softball Club came together in 2007, in Salt Lake City, UT. The club consists of three league teams that play in different cities in Northern Utah and two competitive teams that play Men's and Coed tourneys across the state - all self sponsored but they're hoping to remedy that some day.

Rhonda Kamper started this club to help spread the word and gain networking for her animal advocacy group helpushelpthem.org. It was the perfect combination.

In 2006, Henry, her six-month old puppy, was placed in a heated oven by her now ex-husband and also lost his eye as a result of additional abuse. Henry survived and became the face of the "Henry's Law" movement in Utah. At the time of the attack Utah only deemed such actions as misdemeanor offenses. Through Rhonda and Henry's efforts, there is now a felony provision on the books.

The softball club members love softball and animals. They travel around gaining friends and allies in the battle against animal torture and abuse. In the same regard, the team puts on several softball tournaments a year to help raise awareness.....

■ TEAM SPOTLIGHT: CARDINALS

Submitted by Dena Catuosco

Who would have ever thought John Catuosco, with his fierce and intense attitude on the softball field, would have such a soft side. On game day he considers all of the players on his team one of his own.

Coach John Catuosco, retired NYPD Police Officer and one of the top hitters on the Police Softball circuit, never thought he would get as much joy coaching as he did when his daughter Nicole Catuosco and her teammates brought the Cardinals to the Commack North Girls Minor League Softball Championship. John said, "It was more exciting to watch the girls win, than it was when I won my own Police National Championship in 2004 and was named Most Valuable Player." To see the excitement on the girls' faces and the smile brought to the face of his good buddy, Manager Jeff Corben, gave John the greatest pleasure. "These girls are the best,"

John said. "Each one is special in their own way. It thrills me to see such fire in these young ladies. They are all so eager to learn and be the best ball players they can be."

Manager Jeff Corben, a Physical Therapist and owner of Central Physical Therapy of Garden City, New York since 1990, was so proud of the girls and their teamwork. He said, "I am so happy for the girls, they really gave it their all and they deserve the championship. I never met a more committed bunch of ball players." style to the 2009 Cardinals team. She said, "I've coached championship teams before, but this by far was the most gratifying..."
